NOW FOR THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

IT IS agreed that Denver fairly outdid itself in its entertainment of the Knights Templar and gave them the finest entertainment in the history of an order famous for the lavish magnificence of its conclaves. Now the visitors are on their way to Colorado Springs to find variety and diversion in a few days in the mountains.

We predict that their stay here will be no less pleasant than the more formal meeting in Denver. There they held business sessions, indulged in splendid parades and enjoyed the beauties of street decorations which have never been surpassed in the West. Here they will divest themselves of uncomfortable uniforms, don cool-summer clothing and hie them to the cool mountain fastnesses to drink in the scenic glories of the far-famed Pikes Peak Region. It will be a fitting end to a week which will live long in the memories of the visiting Sir Knights.

CHAOS AT ALBANY

AS IF the Mexican muddle and the Balkan rempus were not enough to provide hot-weather diversion. Albany new comes to the forc with a laund-new va-Alety of sensation. Governor Sulzer refries to be impeached. He admits that he likes his job and will keep it, even though he is afficially ousted. And in orth that there may be as much trouble as possible he has hired a regiment of lawyers to aid him in restoring peace.

And Lieutenant-Governor Glynn insits with equal force and determination that he is now the only legally authorized and empowered eniet executive of the Empire State, and has hired a few lawyers him. self. All is chaos and confusion, nobody knows what to do or how to do it, and the official business of the state is at a standstill. Only one thing is certain, there will be interminable trouble for New York and fat pickings for the lawyers.

-And all because Boss Murphy was able to "get" the Governor who wouldn't obeyhis orders!

AS TO THE OPEN PARLIAMENT

WITH the possible exception of Near to Nature, the Open Parliament is the closest read and most popular feature of The Gazette. Everybody reads it and likes it because it is a medium through which everyhody can express his opinions freely. within reasonable limitations, on all subjects of current interest. Therefore we would no more think of abolishing it than we would of doing away with the first page -, and/yet the Open Parliament is the source of more trouble in the editorial office than everything else combined.

This is so because most of the peoplewho write Open Parliament letters fail to comply with the conditions under which the column is conducted, and then feelaggrieved when their communications are not printed. The conditions, as explained in this note, are printed at the head of the column every day it runs:

All letters intended for the Open Parliament must bear the usine and address of the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as an evidence of good faith. Controversial letters will not be published without the ergusture of the writer; Communications for this department should be limited to 400 words and should be free from personalities.

Yet every mail brings letters of impossible length; unsigned letters; abusive, personal letters obviously written solely to "get even" with somebody (it is scarcely necessary to add that communications of this class are invariably anonymous); and letters which are merely foolish because die, "deal with subjects of no possible interest to anybody except the writer, and meander through an interminable maze or words without making a point or reaching a conclusion.

Of course such letters are not printed But the writers usually never think of blaming themselves; instead; they complain that, "the Open Parliament isn't open at s closed to everybody who expresses views contrary to those of the paper." The truth is that the column is open to anybody who has anything to say which is likely to be of enough general interest to justify his use of the space, and who will conform to the a vehicle for settling personal grievances, or for securing free advertising, or for airing stupid and unlitteresting opinions.

We care not at all whether the views: expressed in the Open Parliament conform to the editorial policy of this paper. For instance, we print many letters from Socialists (perhaps a third or a fourth of all they send us), although we have precious little sympathy with the methods and aims of socialism. There are many well-meaning people who believe that such letters should be rigorously excluded from the Open Parliament, quite ignoring the fact that whether they or we like it or not, socialism is a subject of tremendous interest and importance which must be discussed and understood before it can he settled.

Again, when Open Parliament controversies wax hot (as during the last week over the suffrage question) there are occasional complaints of favoritism because we require one writer or another to omit certain intensely personal, or otherwise improper, phrases or epithets. This is done partly from a wholesome respect for the libel law and partly to save our contributors from the trouble some of them would find themselves in if their letters were printed just as they were written.

We have in mind two highly respected gentlemen who probably would have ended their discussion in police court on assault and battery charges, had it not been that certain offensive adjectives were blue-penciled from their Open Parliament letters before they got into print. Of course the blue-penciling was done, as it always is, with their knowledge and consent, yet each of them was righteously indignant because we had "discriminated against him" and "showed favoritism" in not allowing him to abuse the other in the Open Parliament!

The column is just what its name implies, but it seems necessary now and then to print some such explanation as this for the benefit of people who think otherwise.

TUBERCULOSIS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:: In Mr. Busay's entire article of denunciation against what I believe is the truth, not the slightest proof, or argument for his statements is produced. grain of truth will eventually prevail against a nountain of wrong theory and popular belief, Remember that Mr. Busay's saying so is not absolute agent of intallibility of judgment.

Consumption is not contagious. The we not breathe thousands of these tubercular germs into our lungs every windy day that comes? Practically, speaking, are we not all equally exposed? PRENATAL CARE

"Prenatal Care" is the title of a mono graph just issued by the children's bureau of the department of labor; It is the first of a series of bulleting to be issued by the burgau on the care of children. The reasons for its nublication are set forth by Miss Julia C. Lathron, chief of the bureau, in her letter transmitting the monograph ford any very expensive enter- to Secretary Wilson. The letter says: "A preliminary survey of the field prescribed by law for the bureaux inwith congenial people, give Vestigations showed at once the urthem a share of the neighbor- gency of the question of infant mortalbood good times and arrange ity. E. E. WHITAKER

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 15, 1913.

SQ THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW;

To settle the Estate of Mr. W. H. Tucker, Deceased, who had considerable money invested in this business; it will be necessary to sell the entire stock at whatever price it will bring-and sell it quickly-otherwise the expense will materially effect the receipts.

Many of the lots that we had in the first 10 days of the Sale at $3.65, $4.45 and $4.85. Footwear actually worth $5.00 and $6.00 a pair, have now been reduced to $2.55 and $2.95 for speedy riddance. This includes Men's and Women's stylish Low Shoes.

This becomes necessary as quantities diminish it would be difficult to fit applicants unless we combined the many broken lots at one price, thus once more making a considerable aggregation.

We want our customers and the public at large and the visitors to know that this is indeed an unusual opportunity to purchase two pair, three pair of Low Shoes for the actual price of one.

There is a 95c lot of Women's Shoes that sold originally at $3 and $4 a pair, but these of course, are not the very latest styles nor in the best sizes.

Likewise is there a $1.95 Lot of Men's and Women's Low Shoes, with values up to $5.00 perhaps 20 or more different lines the remnants of each thrown in at the one price coust uontly, there may not be the swact stry or width in the first pair you select, but a little parience will re ward you with a pair or two pair or three pair to fit, and the three pair my not cost you more than one pair is worth.

We want to stop rents clerk hire advertising expense -nd that's why we have gone through the entire stock with the price pruning knife and cut off another $1.00 here and another $1,50 there, in order to end the agony. FAIR NOTICE!

Very respectfully yours, THE WHITAKER-KESTER SHOE CO.
